

Suburban bar swears in new batch of officers

The Northwest Suburban Bar Association (NWSBA) marked the changing of the guard in June with its installation dinner. Cook County Circuit Judge William O. Maki performed the installation and swearing in of new officers: Donald J. Cosley, president; Neil H. Good, executive vice president; Michael A. Meschino, first vice president; William F. Kelley, second vice president; and Ronald F. Wittmeyer Jr., treasurer. Nichole M. Waltz, who was not present, is secretary. In the photo, Cosley (center) named Cook County Associate Judge Joel L. Greenblatt (left) and Cook County Associate Judge James P. Etchingham (right) as recipients of the 2011 "Distinguished Public Service Award."
